Charlie Jung Believes China Will Defeat Japan

Statesboro's only Chinese citizen believes that China will never conquer China.
"Charlie" Jung, known to everyone in Statesboro as "Charlie," believes firmly that China will in some way succeed in defeating the Japanese. He says that all Chinese in America remain loyal to the Chinese cause and send money every month to California that it may be used to send supplies in the form of food and arms to their people back in the "old country." He added that he contributes his part.
Charlie is an unassuming personality, but none the less an interesting character. Retiree to talk, it is difficult to know what goes on in his mind. He came to Statesboro more than twenty years ago. When he was only 15 years old Charlie came to the United States, landing in California. From there he drifted across the United States into Savannah. From there he came to Statesboro and established his laundry here.
As well as he can figure it he is 65 years of age, but he is not quite sure. He has four brothers and four sisters. One brother lives in Miami; the others live in China. They are farmers. Once a month the mail brings him news of them and the old country. Once a month he sets down and writes them news of himself and this country. He almost makes his letter writing a ritual. At the beginning of each year he gets some of his Statesboro friends to address twelve envelopes, together with the return address to his family in China. Then on the first of each month he writes his letter and puts it in the mail.
Charlie is an avowed bachelor. He lives in the building in which he has his laundry, and does his own cooking. He states that he has never married because it cost too much to keep up a wife. He eats rice three times a day, he admits that he likes chicken.
He subscribes to the Chinese World, a Chinese daily newspaper, which costs him $12 a year. He expresses a liking for Statesboro and states that he will never leave here.

First Baptists Hosts To S. S. Convention

The First Baptist church is host today and tomorrow to the Georgia Baptist Sunday School convention with some four hundred delegates attending. Rev. W. M. Marshall, of LaGrange, Ga., is presiding in the absence of Dr. R. C. Gresham, president. The program features addresses by Dr. Frank Leavell, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. Maurice Trimmer, minister, First Baptist church, Macon, Ga.; Rev. Carey T. Vincent, Sandersville, Ga., and many others.

The afternoons of the two-day sessions are given over to open forum conference on the various departments of Sunday school work. These conferences are led by men and women who have had long experience in Bible school work, some of whom have written excellent books on the subject of religious education.

These sessions are not special for Sunday school officers and teachers but the program is designed for the general public—all those who are interested in Sunday school work.
The people of the church, with the help of some among the other denominations, are entertaining the guests on the Harvard plan and are enjoying the privilege of having these hundreds of messengers in their homes.
This is the largest meeting ever entertained by the church and is expected to mean a great deal to the religious educational life of the people.

S.H.S. Graduation Date Set For May 31

Continuing the new idea in graduation exercises as inaugurated last year, the commencement exercises this year will feature the theme, "International Understanding."

The new idea was introduced by S. H. Sherman, superintendent of the Statesboro High school, and does away with a principal speaker on the commencement program. Now only members of the graduating class have parts on the program, which is developed on a theme. All the speakers are honor students and deliver papers on the subjects developing the theme.
Friday evening, May 31, has been set as graduation night, according to an announcement made this week by Sup't. S. H. Sherman. The theme selected this year is "International Understanding." The theme will be introduced by Louise Coalson.
The program as announced will be as follows:
"Brotherhood of Man" by Harry Pike.
"Industrial Co-operation" by Irene Waters.
A poem by Joyce Forbes.
"Tolerance" by A. J. Dotson.
"World Peace" by Mary Frances Etheridge.
The commencement sermon will be preached in the Baptist church with the program under the direction of Dr. C. M. Coalson.
CLASS NIGHT
19 MAY 30
Class night will be held Thursday night, May 30. The program is as follows: Processional.

Words of welcome by Charles Brooks McCallister.
"The Class Voyage" by Imogene Flanders, historian.
"The Class Emblems," by Sara Alice Bridwell.
Song, "Bells of Memory," by the class.
"A Glance Into the Future" by Helen Rowe, prophet, assisted by class president.
Conferring the mantle by senior class president, Robert Morris, to junior class president, Robert Lanier.
Class song, "The Alma Mater" Benediction.
The feature, "Conferring the Mantle" is becoming traditional at the high school since its inauguration. It is an entirely symbolic and the ceremony is very impressive as the president of the senior class passes on to the president of the junior class the responsibilities symbolized by the mantle.

'Watch For Frivolous Cases' Says Judge

"I believe in a government by the law, not by the sword and I believe every man should be subject to the law," Judge William Woodrum told the April Bulloch grand jury Monday morning as the April term of court convened.
In his charge to the grand jury, Judge Woodrum stated that the court is supposed to pass upon the imperfections of others, though imperfect ourselves. He further stated that as long as time has been and as long as time lasts we will never have a perfect set of men to run our court. He added that the most difficult commandment to keep was "Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself." If people were able to keep that commandment there would be no need for a sheriff, judge or court. Selfishness was blamed by the judge as the bottom of every case that comes into court.

In speaking of county officers, Judge Woodrum said, "No man should hold office who is afraid of his job."
Judge Woodrum warned the jury to watch carefully for frivolous cases and added that they cost as much as the others.
J. W. Robertson, of Brooklet, was named foreman of the grand jury.

E. C. Oliver Wins Verdict in Lease Case

A jury found a verdict in favor of E. C. Oliver, defendant in a suit for damage brought by Hyman Dunn, of Dublin, who formerly operated a department store here. Oliver leased the same building to a sheriff, Judge or court. Selfishness was blamed by the judge as the bottom of every case that comes into court.

IT'S A PITY!

EVERY DAY we hear people complaining about the way our local and state Governments are run. Sidewalk and drug store politicians and government experts who have the solutions to all the problems of State but who, when given the chance to help, do so in a doubtful way, vote for the candidate offering the most for their votes. Then when offered an opportunity to state their views before intelligent, straight-thinking leaders who have only the welfare of the state at heart and an improved program for Georgia in their minds, their presence is conspicuous in their absence.

Last week's Georgia Progress Program for the planning of a better Georgia offers an outstanding example of the lethargy into which we lapse when confronted with a concrete program upon which to move forward.

More than thirty of Georgia's better informed leaders came here to give us the benefit of their research, study and findings, out of which a better Georgia may be realized. They were here for two days. During the two days, not more than twenty-five of the citizens of Statesboro attended the discussions upon a subject that should be close to the heart of us all. And except that the students of the college were required to attend the group discussions and general discussions, we would have been embarrassed for the apparent lack of interest on the part of our citizenship.

We have only ourselves to blame when we find our State bogged down in a weak, poorly organized, underfinanced, antiquated governmental organization.

And it is such a pity!

THE RIGHT APPROACH

Without pulling their punches, without regard to the present administration, but only with the welfare of the state at heart and the enlightening of our people as a goal, more than thirty of the state's leaders met at the Teachers' College last Friday and Saturday and in open discussion tackled the major problems confronting our state in an attempt to plan for a Better Georgia.

It was one of the most ambitious attempts at getting at the heart of our troubles ever attempted in the state. In the group discussions held Friday under wise leadership, students of the College as well as others interested, threw one firecracker after another into the discussions in the form of questions and suggestions as to how to better present conditions. The Panel Discussion Saturday morning was a fine demonstration of what can be done in the state to bring about a change of affairs for the betterment of our state. Open minds, intelligent approach, spirited conviction and what might have been, under any other circumstances, embarrassing questions, in open discussion crystallized what the problems are with which we are today faced.

Problems such as consolidation of counties, providing a more efficient school administration, freeing teachers of political handicaps, housing, crime and punishment, all were threshed out.

The Teachers' College is to be congratulated upon the success of their Georgia Progress Program. It is out of such programs that a plan for a Better Georgia will eventually evolve.

HE IS AN AMERICAN

With Europe in such a turmoil, small nations at the mercy of a power-mad fiend and powerful nations in doubt as to what to expect next, have you ever stopped to think what it means to be an American? There appeared in the editorial columns of the New York Sun what comes near being a newspaper classic. It is entitled "He Is An American." Here is the text of it, just in case you are apt to forget that you are an American:

"He is an American.
"He hears an airplane overhead and if he looks up at all does so in curiosity, neither in fear nor in the hope of seeing a protector.

"His wife goes marketing, and her purchases are limited by her needs, her tastes, her budget, but not by decree.

"He comes home of an evening through streets which are well lighted, not dimly in blue.

"He reads his newspaper and knows that what it says is not concocted by a bureau, but an honest, untrammeled effort to present the truth.

"He has never had a gas mask on.

"He has never been in a bomb-proof shelter.

"His military training, an ROTC course in college, he took because it excused him from the gym course, and it was not compulsory.

"He belongs to such fraternal organizations and clubs as he wishes.

"He adheres to a political party to the extent that he desires—the dominant one, if that be his choice, but with the distinct reservation that he may criticize any of its policies with all the vigor which to him seems proper—any other as his convictions dictate, even, if it be his decision, one which holds that the theory of government of the country is wrong and should be scrapped.

"He does not believe, if his party is out of power, that the only way in which it can come into power is through a bloody revolution.

"He converses with friends, even with chance acquaintances, expressing freely his opinion on any subject, without fear.

"He does not expect his mail to be opened between posting and receipt, nor his telephone to be tapped.

"He changes his place of dwelling, and does not report so doing to the police.

"He carries an identification card only in case he should be the victim of a traffic accident.

"He thinks of his neighbors across international borders—of those to the north as though they were across a state line, rather than as foreigners—of those to the south more as strangers since they speak a language different from his, and with the knowledge that there are now matters of difference between his government and theirs, but of neither with an expectancy of war.

"He worships God in the fashion of his choice, without let.

"His children are with him in his home, neither removed to a place of greater safety, if young, nor if older, ordered ready to serve the state with sacrifice of limb or life.

"He has his problems, his troubles, his uncertainties, but all others are not overshadowed by the imminence of battle and sudden death.

"He should struggle to preserve his Americanism with its priceless privileges.

"He is a fortunate man.

"He is an American."—New York Sun.

THE HOG—THE COW—AND THE AUTOMOBILE

Last week during one of the sessions at the Teachers' College on Planning a Better Georgia the age-old problem of "No Fence Law" reared its head and a lively discussion followed, with no conclusions reached.

Walter Locke, writing for the Atlanta Journal in a column, "Trend of the Times," makes some observations while traveling through Florida and Georgia recently.

He has this to say with regard to cattle and hogs on the highways:

"The open road: Sparks fly upward and live stock in Florida seek the shoulders of the paved roads. Cattle, goats, hogs and mules make up a crowded reception line as the traveler bows through. They serve somewhat as speed cap and traffic light, for only the most reckless will risk at high speed a sudden change in direction of a grazing roadside mule, pig, goat or cow. Now and then all precautions fail and a funeral ensues.

"Why do the cattle and the goats, the pigs and the mules mobilize beside the road like flies on sugar barrels? Does nobody but the Highway Department know the secret of growing grass? Have the barnyard creatures become so sociable that, like the people who build their quiet houses by the roaring curb, the very cows, pigs and the goats are changing:

"Let me live in the grass by the side of the road, and be a friend to man."

"An educator to one of the state's school explains.
The road strip of soil beside the road receives, accordingly, a double share of rain. The grass responds proportionately; and cows, mules and goats have the sense to gather where the grass is good.
No juxtaposition of poverty and plenty for them.
Leave that to the dumb brutes, to man.

"Meanwhile, the commingling of live stock, culture and tourist traffic has complications which will not down. Demands for a segregation of pasture and pavement never cease. An age-old compatibility of interest and temperament resumes here its wondered head. Compel the poor farmer to fence away his barnyard from the road? Such tyranny, we are apprised with much waving of arms by rural statesmen, shall never be. Better death than such loss of live stock liberty. The issue renews the old town-country war from which no good can come."

Words of Wisdom

Nothing will ruin the country if the people themselves will undertake its safety; and nothing can save it if they leave their safety in any hands but their own.—Daniel Webster.

Look over the whole creation, and you shall see that the band, or cement, that holds together all the parts of this great and glorious fabric is gratitude.—South.

Hope is a pleasant acquaintance, but an unsafe friend. Hope is not the man for your banker, though he may do for a traveling companion.—Halliburton.

RADIO INTERVIEW WITH MR. ALFRED DORMAN—

On Wednesday evening, April 10, over Radio Station KTTH, Hot Springs, Ark., Alfred Dorman told the world about Statesboro and Bulloch county.

"Bull," as he is affectionately known to every one in this section, was selected as one of the outstanding guests of Hot Springs that week and in recognition of that distinction was interviewed over the radio. The broadcast lasted five minutes during which "Bull" proved to be Bulloch county's biggest booster.

The interview, complete as broadcasted, is as follows:

1. Where is your home in Geo-gia, Mr. Dorman?

A. In the little city of States-boro.

2. What is its population?

A. The present census that is being taken will show it to be over 5,000.

3. And in what part of Georgia is it located?

A. It is fifty-three miles west of Savannah.

4. Are you a native of Georgia?

A. I am, and it is a fine state.

5. What are some of the assets of Statesboro?

A. The Georgia Teachers' college is located there, a central school and is a branch of the University System. It has an enrollment of over 700 pupils. That its agricultural development, its live stock industry and tobacco.

6. Well, you do live in a thriving and prosperous section of Georgia. Do you find raising live stock profitable?

A. Yes, indeed. Our live stock sales attract state-wide attention.

7. How large is your tobacco crop?

A. Well, we have four large warehouses to handle it, so you can see it is not a small one. We sell five to six million pounds each season.

8. And what business are you in,
Mr. Dorman?

A. I am in the wholesale grocery business.

9. How many newspapers do you have in Statesboro?

A. We have two—The Bulloch
Herald and the Bulloch Times, both very good publications.

10. Does Statesboro have a chamber of commerce or other service organizations?

A. Yes. A junior and senior chamber of commerce, Rotary club and Woman's club.

11. Now, Mr. Dorman, when did you first come to Hot Springs, Ark?

A. I made my first visit to this city six years ago.

12. And what prompted it?

A. I had gone through a spell of illness and needed rest and to recuperate, so I came here. That was my first course of hot baths.

13. Did you know that the government owned, controlled and endorsed the waters of the hot springs?

A. Yes, I knew that, and also that this was the first national park the government created.

14. Were you benefited from that initial course of baths?

A. I certainly was. I returned home much improved. Doesn't the fact that I have returned annually since then prove that? I have a high regard for your city and its hot springs?

15. It certainly does. But aside from that, have you any other reason for your continued visits?

A. Yes, and I guess it will come under the heading of the tired business man. You see, I own my business. That means I have to give it my personal attention.

Well, a fellow gets pretty tired after a year's hard work, and he needs just what Hot Springs, Arkansas, has.

16. You mean a course of these hot, stimulating, medicinal baths?

A. That's it. I consider I am investing in health insurance every time I come here. I get the rest, recreation and vacation. I need, and the baths enable me to get my new vitality and make possible another year's attention to my business.

17. Then, speaking as a business man, forced to give close personal attention to his business, can you recommend a visit to Hot Springs to a fellow who is a business man?

A. Yes, indeed. I can't say too much for it. It is a great place for a business man to visit. It will give him a new vitality and make possible another year's attention to his business.

18. Mr. Dorman, your place was located where the Sea Island bank now stands. He remained in this business for four years, when he ran and was elected sheriff of Bul-loch county, at the age of 32. He served for four years. Ten years later he was again candidate for sheriff and was elected and served four years.

After retiring from public service he sold gum with John W.
Olliff company.

Determined to keep step with the times, Mr. Donaldson learned to drive an automobile at the age of 60. Today he has the best garage on Savannah avenue, and he never fails to come to town, walking the distance from his home several times a day. He loves young people and never fails to take up time with them.

With older men in our county like John Donaldson to guide and inspire us, our young people are bound to turn out all right.

A great man is a gift in some measure, a revelation of God. A great man, living for high ends, is the divinest thing that can be seen on earth. The value and interest of history are derived chiefly from the lives and services of the eminent men whom it commemorates.
Indeed, without these, there would be no such thing as history, and the progress of a nation would be little worth recording, as the march of a trading caravan across a desert.—George S. Hillard.

Planning A Better Georgia

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of three articles concerning Georgia's penal system and its drain upon the state's welfare and prosperity.
The facts are taken from the seventh report on the penitentiary system, the series of ten being made during 1939-40 by the Citizens' Fact Finding Movement. The report was made by Tarleton Collier, newspaper writer, and the man who knows more than any other in the state about the penal system. It is a conspicuous report and everyone in the state should become familiar with it. The other two articles will follow in order.

The definite declaration that "Georgia needs a new penal system, lock, stock and barrel, radically revised as to methods, objectives and philosophies" is made in the report on the state's present system prepared for the Citizens' Fact Finding Movement in Geo-gia.

"The inherent weaknesses are about to overwhelm it," the report points out. "The thing bids fair to fall to pieces before our very eyes.
Shall we put it together again in the old pattern?"

Seventeen state-wide organizations with a total membership of 250,000 persons make up the fact-finding body. Each major problem of the state's advancement is inquired into methodically and the truth faithfully reported.

The prison study was prepared by Tarleton Collier, brilliant Georgia journalist and penal authority, in collaboration with a group of consultants.

"Except for the gross of regulations which forbid the use of chains or even the name, the system remains in effect the old chain-gang system, it is found. It remains a system in which all but about 1,000 men and women of the approximately 8,500 state prisoners are held in the work camps of counties or the Highway Department."

"It remains a system of great inequality and inconsistencies in standards, in administration, in dispensation of justice. Sentences vary greatly according to the customs, traditions, politics, attitudes, prejudices of jurors and outlook of judges."

"It remains a system in which a man at odds with the law is regarded first as a machine for enforced and unremitting labor rather than as a casual of society properly capable of redemption and of restoration to productive usefulness as a citizen."

"It remains in effect a lease system, under which the state shuffles off its delinquents to the counties and then hires their labor from the counties under a plan of subsidies through so-called highway contracts. This is an arrangement by which the Highway Department pays the counties for the work which the convicts in their keeping perform on state roads."

"That somebody has profited by the arrangement is obvious. There has been a disposition to defend the plan on the ground that if the small counties were not enabled to maintain camps by aid of the 'highway' contracts, the state would be put to greater expense in taking care of all of its prisoners."

"It is significant of the Georgia penal system and its ills that the official calculation, whether by official or private observers, is made on the basis solely of a work policy rather than a reformation or rehabilitation policy in which work is a factor of cure, not a device for profit or punishment."

"The effect of the state's financial crisis is shown by the report in the diminution from 115 to 80 in county camps."

"It is obvious," declares the report, "that Georgia needs more than a penal system that is an organic whole, with common standards—and proper, professional standards at that—rather than a hodge-podge of county and state camps in which it is every unit for itself, according to the locality's view, abilities, resources and politics." The report points out ways by which this organization can be accomplished.

W. P. A. Inventory Shows Work Done In County

(By H. T. Walker, District Manager, Georgia Work Projects Administration.)

The Georgia Work Projects Administration has just completed an inventory of all work accomplished in Bulloch county since the WPA and local sponsors since the beginning of operations on July 1, 1935.

This inventory is an accounting to the people of Bulloch county on how the WPA has carried out its responsibility to assist in putting unemployed persons to work on the most constructive projects that can be found.

The WPA operates entirely through local sponsorship, which initiates projects and provides part of the cost. All these projects that have been completed are property of the county or other local government units. In addition to these county and local projects, Bulloch county has been benefited by district and statewide projects.

In the matter of employment, WPA labor during one typical week included 247 men and women. This figure has varied up and down over a period of years, according to local conditions, amount of need, and federal and local funds available.

But through the years the money paid for wages of these people has been spent with Bulloch county merchants and farmers for food, clothing, and shelter; for fuel, and for medical services. It has helped create purchasing power in this county and contributed to better conditions.

Among the tangible benefits from WPA projects in Bulloch county have been improved roads and streets. With the sponsorship of local government units which initiated and planned the projects and paid part of the costs, the WPA has helped build 47,497 lineal feet of paved roads and 27,230 feet of unpaved roads in the county.

Other road work included the building of two wooden bridges totaling 304 feet in length, and five steel bridges totaling 100 feet. WPA labor also was utilized to construct fifty-five culverts totaling 1,853 feet.

For protection of the roads, 126,488 lineal feet of roadside drainage ditch were dug, and 1,072 feet of pipe laid.

Within the limits of municipalities and with the sponsorship of local governments, WPA labor has built 6,522 lineal feet of paved streets, 7,729 feet of paved sidewalks, and repaired 18,790 feet of other sidewalks. A total of 8,884 feet of curbs and 3,446 feet of gutters have been constructed.

In the field of building construction, WPA labor was used by local sponsors to build three schools, made additions to four, and repairs to three others.

The new school are at Denmark, Lenoir, and near Portal. Repairs were made to three schools at Statesboro, and additions constructed at Popes academy, the old building at Ogeechee school, two class rooms at the Warnock school, and the vocational building at Nevils school.

A small frame hospital was put up for South Georgia Teachers college and camping places were built near Statesboro, five miles west of the city, and at Portal.

A six-acre athletic field was built at the South Georgia Teachers college.

Statesboro also sponsored repairs to the city's sewage treatment plant, which has a capacity of 250,000 gallons a day. Water mains have been extended 9,450 feet, and sewers 8,527 feet.

Bulloch county had a part in the statewide fight against malaria, one of Georgia's worst health hazards. WPA labor, co-operating with state and local health authorities, drained 852 acres of mosquito-breeding land and improved drainage of 190 acres. The work required the digging of 8,590 feet of ditches and repair of 5,920 feet of existing ditches.

Other drainage work in the county included 21,369 feet of ditches to improve 189 acres. The airport near Statesboro was built by WPA labor. Over 4,000 feet of runways were constructed and a five-plane hangar erected.

These manual projects, however, are only part of the story. The WPA helped local sponsors build 17 of the 28 local schools in the county. We intend to keep on winning and we would still like to play other teams.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL

The girls of the Laboratory school have organized teams, each grade forming one team, and are having a tournament. The three losing teams are going to give the winning team a picnic sometime next week. They are planning to play a team from the college Tuesday, April 23. The team which plays the college will be composed of the good players taken from all the teams. They are planning to play in uniforms—navy blue shorts and white shirts. After the game with the college the girls plan to have games from other schools.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
Most of you for whom this is intended are already familiar with the fact that, owing to a fire that originated in an adjacent building and spread to our church, the First Presbyterian church, of Statesboro, is without a building of its own in which to worship. Through the kindness of the congregation of the Primitive church, we have been invited to use their church at all times except on those Sunday when they are using it themselves. We are indeed grateful to these friends for their kind consideration, and have gladly accepted their invitation until such time as we are able to provide a church of our own.

This brings us to the object of this notice: We are beginning right away to raise the money to erect a new church building. The members of the Primitive church are giving until it amounts to a sacrifice; however, ours is not a large nor a wealthy congregation, and the amount we will be able to raise is limited. We are going to need the help of the people of this community. We are asking the people of Statesboro and Bulloch county to help us as generous as you can, and that you give not as to a particular denomination, but for the building of a house of God where He may be worshipped, through which He may be glorified. And that may God aid His blessings to our gratitude for your help.

Most of you for whom this is intended are already familiar with the fact that, owing to a fire that originated in an adjacent building and spread to our church, the First Presbyterian church, of Statesboro, is without a building of its own in which to worship. Through the kindness of the congregation of the Primitive church, we have been invited to use their church at all times except on those Sunday when they are using it themselves. We are indeed grateful to these friends for their kind consideration, and have gladly accepted their invitation until such time as we are able to provide a church of our own.

This brings us to the object of this notice: We are beginning right away to raise the money to erect a new church building. The members of the Primitive church are giving until it amounts to a sacrifice; however, ours is not a large nor a wealthy congregation, and the amount we will be able to raise is limited. We are going to need the help of the people of this community. We are asking the people of Statesboro and Bulloch county to help us as generous as you can, and that you give not as to a particular denomination, but for the building of a house of God where He may be worshipped, through which He may be glorified. And that may God aid His blessings to our gratitude for your help.

SHOULD GEORGIA JOBS GO TO FOREIGN WORKERS?

By MISS ELSIE WATERS

What helps or hurts Savannah, likewise affects Southeast Georgia, and the jobs of 700 Savannah sugar workers are threatened with the invasion of Savannah and this territory by foreign refined sugars—refined by the cheap labor of the tropics.

These 700 Savannah sugar workers, with a payroll of approximately a million dollars a year, are consumers of many of the products your community produces.

Who do you think should have the job of refining the sugar you use? These Georgia workers—or the foreign workers in the tropics? Don't you feel safer in using sugar that is refined under the U. S. Government's Pure Food Laws, and in accordance with this country's high standards of purity and cleanliness—rather than foreign refined sugar that is NOT?

This company, its 700 workers, and we believe—the people of Savannah—will appreciate your support of Dixie Crystals sugar in their fight against this unfair foreign competition.

The following is a poem written by Eloise Collins, a pupil in the third grade:
April
I like to see the flowers bloom,
I like to see the sun come out,
I like to see the wind blow,
I like to see the rain fall,
I like to see the birds sing,
I like to see the grass grow,
I like to see the world come to life,
I like to see the sun shine bright,
I like to see the world in all its glory,
I like to see the world in all its beauty.

The following are poems written by students in the fourth grade, section A:
China
In China the people eat bamboo shoots,
They also eat vegetables and some fruits.
The houses are made of sun-dried bricks,
The roofs are made of thatched bamboo sticks.
Though China is far, far away, I'd like to visit there some day.
—Marie Jackson, 4th Grade.

New Year's Day
On New Year's Day
The Chinese say,
They're in the biggest run.
After they sell their evil spirits
They have a great deal of fun.
—Gwendolyn Gay, 4th Grade.

China
China, the land of the yellow race,
Long pigtailed, slanting eyes and a big face;
With big-sleeved shirts and blousy pants, Girls and boys both like to dance.
—Roxanne Kent, 4th Grade.

The Chinese
The Chinese children go to schools
They used to sit on little stools.
Sometimes a boy runs a race
With a smile on his happy face.
—Roxanne Kent, 4th Grade.

A Letter To The Public

It is with regret that we have to announce the withdrawal of our offer to give away a DeLuxe Ford car. Our competitors tried to get an indictment against us for operating a "gift enterprise," technically known as a "lottery," but the grand jury was kind enough to put us wise.

It is not our desire to violate any law, because we try to operate our business on a high level of business integrity, but fearing that a technical violation might be involved in a continuance of our offer, we decided to call it off.

Our plan of giving away this car was nothing new and has been used by many of our local merchants in the past, although perhaps on a smaller scale.

It is hoped that our many customers who received tickets with their purchases of merchandise will understand our motives, and we definitely assure each and every one of them that a plan will be worked out for the redemption of these tickets, without involving any violation of law, and announcement will be made in due course.

In appreciation of the friendship shown by our customers we assure you even greater bargains in every line we carry for the balance of 1940 than ever offered before.

County Votes On Soil District

Every land owner in Bulloch county is urged to go to the polls Saturday, May 4, between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. and express themselves toward the soil conservation district by W. H. Smith, president of the county United Georgia Farmers.

This is one of the major projects the UGFA has attempted to promote, Mr. Smith pointed out. In November the organization appealed to the state soil conservation committee for a district to be known as the Ogeechee river watershed. A hearing was held on Jan. 23 when the land owners present expressed themselves as being 100 per cent. favorable to the plan. After the referendum on May 4, if the vote is favorable, the legal machinery will be set up whereby the state soil conservation committee can co-operate with the farmers in the county that desire the services of the trained men to be placed there.

If the vote is favorable and the county is included in the district, it will then be necessary for farmers wanting the aid from the organization to ask for it, as the plan is not compulsory but optional to those that desire it.

The regular voting places will be used for the referendum. Land owners that cannot be at the polls may vote by mail by procuring a card from the county agent's office and mailing it to the ordinary prior to the closing hour.

Those in charge of the polls as named by Mr. Smith are, in the 44th district, Jim H. Strickland and J. V. Anderson; 45th, W. R. Anderson and R. D. Bowen; 46th, T. D. Vickery and Ben A.
